Government's Unresisted Motion for a 14-Day Extension of Time to File Any Petition for Rehearing En Banc

Pursuant to Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure 26(b) and 27, the government moves for a 14-day extension of time, to and including April 4, 2025, to file any petition for rehearing en banc. This is the government's second motion for an extension of time. The government offers the following grounds in support of this motion:

1. Defendant was charged with two counts of possession of a firearm by a drug user under 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(3). (R. Doc. 3.) He moved to dismiss both counts, arguing that they violated the Second Amendment and were unconstitutionally vague, both facially and as applied to him. (R. Doc. 27.) On September 29, 2023, the district court denied both of defendant's facial challenges. (R. Doc. 34.) On December

28, 2023, after a bench trial on stipulated facts, the district court found defendant guilty on both counts. (R. Doc. 45.) It ruled that both counts were constitutional under the Second Amendment as applied to defendant and that both counts were not unconstitutionally vague as applied to him. (R. Doc. 45.)

2. Defendant appealed. On February 5, 2025, a panel of this Court held that 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(3) sometimes can violate the Second Amendment, and it remanded for the district court to resolve defendant’s as-applied challenge, stating in part:

These two analogues also frame the relevant questions for resolving Cooper’s as-applied challenge. Did using marijuana make Cooper act like someone who is “both mentally ill and dangerous”? [United States v.] Veasley, 98 F.4th [906,] 913 [(8th Cir. 2024)]. Did he “induce terror,” id. at 918, or “pose a credible threat to the physical safety of others” with a firearm, [United States v.] Rahimi, 602 U.S. [680,] 700, 144 S. Ct. 1889 [(2024)]? Unless one of the answers is yes—or the government identifies a new analogue we missed, but cf. United States v. Connelly, 117 F.4th 269, 274-75 (5th Cir. 2024) (coming up with a similar list)—prosecuting him under § 922(g)(3) would be “[in]consistent with this Nation’s historical tradition of firearm regulation.” [New York State Rifle and Pistol Association, Inc. v.] Bruen, 597 U.S. [1,] 17 [(2022)], 142 S. Ct. 2111.

United States v. Cooper, 127 F.4th 1092, 1096 (8th Cir. 2025). It rejected the defendant’s facial Second Amendment challenge and his vagueness challenges. Id. at 1094 n.1.

3. The decision of whether to seek further review of this Court's panel decision is reserved to the Solicitor General. 28 C.F.R. § 0.20(b). The government has received one previous 30-day extension of time to file a petition for rehearing en banc, and the government's petition is due on March 21, 2025. Given the issues outlined above, in order for the Solicitor General to have time to make an informed decision, the government requests an additional 14 days to file any petition for rehearing en banc.

4. The undersigned has contacted defense counsel, who has no objection to a 14-day extension of time for the government to file any petition for rehearing en banc.

5. In the event that the Solicitor General decides not to seek further review, the government will notify the Court immediately, and the mandate can issue as otherwise appropriate.

Accordingly, and for good cause shown, the government moves for a 14-day extension of time, to and including April 4, 2025, to file any petition for rehearing en banc.

Respectfully submitted,
